

Polity

The Journal of the Northeastern
Political Science Association

The Northeastern Political Association is pleased to announce the new editorial team for Polity. The NPSA council selected a team of three political scientists based at the City University of New York, the largest and most diverse public university system in the Northeast.

The new editorial team began its five-year term on July 1, 2020.

Meet the Editors:

Robyn Marasco, Associate Professor of Political Science at Hunter College and the CUNY Graduate Center

Charles Tien, Professor of Political Science at Hunter College and the CUNY Graduate Center

Alyson Cole, Professor of Political Science at Queens College and the CUNY Graduate Center

“We are honored to have been selected as co-editors of Polity and are fully committed to continuing the work of our predecessors in producing a leading journal of political science. We look forward to publishing high-quality and high-impact research that speaks across the subfields. Our aim is to produce a journal that reflects the richness and diversity of the discipline, in terms of topics, methodologies, and perspectives. We also hope that Polity can provide a forum for political scientists to address matters of general public interest and importance. We invite submissions from scholars seeking to innovate on methods and approaches in the study of politics. We are eager and excited to contribute to charting new directions in the discipline.”

<https://www.journals.uchicago.edu/toc/pol/current>

Follow Polity on Twitter at @PolityalsBeruf